The building occupies a conspicuous situation at the corner of Broadway and Liberty streets, and the multitude of gas lights, blazing in the operating room last night attracted considerable attention from the crowds in the street. The offices of the company are considered to be the handsomest telegraph offices in the city. All the operators, messengers and other employes are to be handsomely uniformed. The company, having failed to obtain the privilege at St. Louis of running their wires across the bridge, are now laying cables under the river at that point.

The work of building a line to St. Louis from Pittsburg is also in progress, and it is expected that wires will be completed to Zanesville in a few days.

The American Press Association also occupied offices at 298 Broauway, but is to-day removing to 145 Broadway, having leased offices on the fifth floor. Communication with the Telegraph Company is had by means of pneumatic tubes.

The Woodhull in Trouble

The great Woodhull, probably the nest known female in the United States today, she that has set the world agog with her strong-minded notions upon Marriage, Free Love and Divorce, accompanied by her scarcely less noted sister. Tennie C. Claffin, left this city for Hamilton last Friday evening, where she was under an engagement to lecture on the "Naked Truth." Quite a large audience had assembled, who were probably strangers to this commodity, and were anxious to see the monstrosity in all its nudeness; but it so happened that another portion of the community had determined to see nakedness in another form, and had accordingly assembled in the hall beneath to witness the Great Parisian (?) Can-Can, which was running at full blast.

The Cau-Can must have been very exhilarating, for the audience in the lower hall became so uproarious that Victoria was unable to proceed with her lecture. She accordingly threw the veil over her nude subject, rung down the curtain, dismissed her audience, not forgetting to refund their money, however, and bade Hamilton a long farewell, fully satisfied that the people of that "burgh" cared more for a leg show than the truth any day, though it was naked. "But," says Vickie, "truth is mighty and will prevail, if not in Hamilton, in some less heathen community."

The manager, Mr. Walter Dixon, was her strong-minded notions upon Mar-

The manager, Mr. Walter Dixon, was consulted, and, as The Woodhuil thought, everything settled, but. what was her surprise when, this morning, Mr. Dixon turned up before 'Squire Evitt, and sued out a writ against Victoria for $20 alleged hall rent. Now, the lecturess claims that the stipulated rent of the hall was only $16, which she had settled with Mr. Dixon before leaving Hamilton by a compromise, and now he adds insult to injury by suing her for five dollars more than the entire amount. Such is life. 'Squire Evitt will decide the case on the 13th.

Farms in Texas.

To the Editor of the Globe Democrat:

To the Editor of the Globe Democrat:

Texas Burbau of Immigration, St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1, 1875.—It may be of interest to the farming portion of your readers to know on what terms they can rent improved farms in Texas, and with what security and accuracy of calculation they can now move to that State. The planters of Texas will rent their improved lands, under a good fance, furnish comfortable houses, all fre-wood, a garden and potato patch, one milch cow to each family, all teams and feed for teams, all tools, and keep the same in repair, and all seed—the renter to do the work and divide the crop equally between them after it is gathered. They will also advance the necessary provisions for the support of the renter's family after he is fairly at work, the same to be paid for from the sales of his crop in the fall. I have the names of several hundred planters, which I furnish free to all applicants, that they may enter into direct correspondence. Fully ten thousand farmers can get these terms between now and the 1st of January, when plowing for a new crop commences.
